An aerial photograph of a hilltop town in Tuscany, Italy, during the golden hour of sunset. The town's stone buildings, featuring terracotta roofs and crenellated walls, are silhouetted against the warm, orange glow of the sky. The surrounding landscape is a vast expanse of rolling hills, some covered in dense forests with autumn-colored foliage, and others in open green fields. A winding road and a small pond are visible in the valley below. The overall mood is peaceful and nostalgic.
